

HSRV 232

Topics in Addiction Treatment

1. Students will demonstrate an understanding of the dynamics of relapse and of several models of relapse prevention.
2. Students will be able to apply a model of Crisis Intervention to a case study of an addicted client in crisis.
3. Students will demonstrate a basic understanding of how domestic violence, co-dependency, and other effects of addiction influence the family.
4. Students will recognize markers for suicidal risk and develop a suicide prevention plan.
5. Students will appreciate the complexity of treating mentally ill clients with addictions.
6. Students will articulate the effects addiction has on clients with special needs.
7. Students will identify the emerging trends in the field of addiction treatment through an examination of the newest research available in the field.